HIGHLIGHTS

DELGSEA Project

The EU, Konrad Adenauer Stiftung and UCLG ASPAC cofounded project that aimed at promoting twinning and partnership between local governments and has successfully established a sustainable network of 32 cities and 11 local government associations, non-state actors and academic institutions from the 5 participating countries (Cambodia, Indonesia, Philippines, Thailand, and Vietnam).

DELGSEA project II (second term) whose priority lies on the civil society empowerment within ASEAN eight (8) member countries, was established in 2012.

Climate Change Initiative

As part of its drive to become a lead source for information on relevant development issues, the Initiative was established. It aims to nurture mutual learning and provide ASPAC members with examples of good practices and tools that are already being applied in other cities. It covers developing research on climate change and disaster mitigation issues revolving around the identification of relevant actors working in the field.

EU PLATFORMA Project

The EU-funded project initiated by the Council of European Municipalities and Regions (CEMR) started on April 2012. Its main objective is to strengthen institutional capacity of local and regional authorities in partner countries. For the period of 2012-2015, PLATFORMA will work to support a reflection process with Local and Regional Authorities in the EU partner countries on development.

Supporting Decentralization in Developing Countries

The EU-assisted project that supports the establishment of effective decentralization and balanced local development, which in turn creates a favorable environment to strengthen national and regional integration in Southeast Asia. It was undertaken in 7 countries in Southeast Asia, e.g. Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, Malaysia, Philippines, Thailand, and Vietnam.
